Accounting policies and limitations

The figures were reconstructed from seven complete bunq transaction exports, starting from a confirmed combined opening balance of € 0. Internal transfers are excluded from income and expenses. Refunds of unsuccessful international payments reduce the original project expenses. The treasurer confirms that there were no other assets, receivables, debts or unpaid invoices at the reporting date.

Expenses for the first family have been combined where transaction descriptions do not permit a reliable breakdown. The treasurer estimated an indicative allocation of approximately 80% education and 20% entrepreneurship. This estimate is not presented as an audited split of the annual figures. According to the treasurer, donations carried no exclusive external spending restrictions beyond the foundation’s purpose.

In 2025 the foundation supported the first family through educational expenses and entrepreneurship. Contributions from Soroptimist Delft were primarily intended for education but, according to the treasurer, could also be used for other project expenses. According to the treasurer, no new separate projects were undertaken.

Activities report

EmpowHER continued supporting the first family, focusing on educational expenses and the mother’s business. The foundation maintained direct contact with the family and discussed the development of the business and the children’s education. No other separate projects have been confirmed for 2025. The foundation had no employees, and the board worked without remuneration.

Adoption and review

The annual accounts were approved by the board on 23 October 2026. According to the board, the expert review required under the articles of association was performed and approved. The amounts were reconstructed from bank transactions; separate bank balance statements are not available.

This version includes editorial corrections approved by the board; all financial amounts remain unchanged.
